

Money in the college fund...

Spencer Bradford, a sophomore at San Juan High, was awarded a $2,000 scholarship from the Energy Solutions Foundation, during a special banquet in Salt Lake City last Saturday. Bradford was one of several Energy Solutions Scholarship winners honored at the affair. The Energy Solutions Foundations awards scholarships each year to qualified high school sophomores, who plan to pursue college degrees in math, science or engineering. Spencer said representatives from several Utah colleges were at Saturday's banquet, offering to match his scholarship for attending their schools. Spencer said he plans to study engineering at the University of Utah. Courtesy photo
